

MOTION PICTURE REVIEW AND VAUDEVILLE ATTRACTIONS

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN THE PICTURE WORLD

Lyric Lowers Price.
Famously vaudeville, the Lyric will commence Monday, confine itself exclusively to films, charging five cents admission to all. Twice a week pictures featuring stage celebrities will be exhibited.

At the Grand.
Mons. King, the celebrated equilibrist, appears at the Grand in some of his famous balancing feats. Also on the bill are Sans and Sans, a sister team famed throughout vaudeville circles as the Fashion Plate Girls. Their sketch is good. New pictures will be shown this evening, and a straw vote on the presidential possibilities will be taken.

Another Weekly at Royal.
Pictures at the Royal include a Pathé Weekly as well as four other entertaining films. They are: "Friends," "Fat Bill's Woe," "Roost, the Kidder," and "Across the Broad Pacific." The Weekly pictures Clarence Darrow, who figured large in the McNamara trial, addressing a crowd at a Labor Day gathering. Former Vice President Fairbanks is shown unveiling a monument at Terre Haute, Ind., commemorating the battle with the Indians at Old Fort Harrison in 1812. A gladiatorial fight between the Gladiators and the Dodgers, in which Murray scored a home run in the seventh inning of the second game, is interestingly pictured. Many other timely subjects of universal interest are shown.

Novelty at Crown.
A feature of the Crown's vaudeville, which is educational as well as highly entertaining, is a young Indian woman, named We-Chok-Be. She is a full blood Sioux and takes entertainment of her life and the habits of her people, illustrating the sketch with native songs and dances. Special scenery forms a fitting background for this decided novelty. Hughes and Pryor, an European comedy couple, also present an act that is well up to the standard set by this house.

The films are: "For the Honor of the Title," "A Summer Idyl," and "The Heart of a Cowboy." This last photograph is a wonderful picture. The costumes are gorgeous, the settings are highly creditable, the story told is interesting, the customs and ceremonies of the cowboys are exceedingly interesting and give an atmosphere that is instructive to a large degree. A young cowboy falls in love with the daughter of a Russian officer, but through the promise of promotion from his superior—a general—the father consents that his daughter shall be given in marriage to the latter. The engagement ceremony is vividly pictured, the lover is warned of the plot to take his sweetheart from him, hastens to the scene of the ceremonial, bursts into the room and carries the girl off before any one can prevent. He hires a housekeeper to assist him, and while the father, the general and others are being entertained by wine and dancers, he makes his escape with the girl. Their one horse goes lame and they are caught up with. A fight follows, a friend comes to the rescue of the lover, who wins the fight, and as a reward is forgiven by his sweetheart's father and allowed to take the daughter as his promised wife. The photography is very fine, the night scenes are beautiful and the whole edifies for unstinted praise.

Good Show at People's.
Two good vaudeville features and a number of fine pictures are offered at the People's.

The Walthers appear in an entertaining "Hiring and talking" sketch.

and Frank Perry, the dancing musician, carries his act through in great shape.

The films are "The Herculiana Daughters," "Far Away Fields," and "The Birth of the Lotus Blossom." Japanese players have been seen upon the screen but never before in this country in connection with an American producer. This is the first of a series of Japanese plays which are to be offered by the Tinseltown company, and if others come up to the standard of this offering they will assuredly be welcomed. The players are headed by Miss Taku Takagi, and each one of them shows great ability. The play is a most artistic delight and will be recalled with pleasant memories. Briefly, this is the plot: A warrior is pursued by his enemies, who overtake him and severely wound him, though he manages to drive them off and keep them at bay until he arrives at a sacred temple, where he is befriended by a priestess who straightway falls in love with him and hides him from his enemies. She gives up her robes and insignia of office and leaves the sacred idol she had watched over, that she might follow the fortune of her lover. Throughout the night she watches and prays for him, while the idol comes to life and takes the place of the priestess, praying for her soul and its salvation. The warrior dies, the priestess covers his body with her mantle, returns to the temple, the idol goes back to its pedestal, the priestess puts on her robes and when the soldiers return they find her before the idol in solemn prayer. Then she disappears and the Lotus Blossom appears in her stead as a sacred emblem of her purity and faith. And thus, to this day, is the legend handed down to all Japanese of how the Lotus Blossom came to be born.

Films and Figures.
Every motion picture theater is showing an average of five reels a day, says an interesting set of statistics compiled by an exchange. There are about 1,000 feet of film to every picture and, as the number of picture theaters has reached the large total of 25,000 in this country alone, a close calculation will reveal the astonishing total of 125,000,000 feet of film being used every day in the United States for the amusement and education of the public. Every year, therefore, 45,000,000 feet of film are being used in this industry, and the business is growing.

An instance of the great educational work the motion picture is doing may be had in the impressive naval ceremony of the burial of the battleship Maine, seven miles off the coast of Cuba. At the very small average of 700 people per day to each theater, more than 12,000,000 people of the United States witnessed the beautiful, clear and true motion picture reproduction of the event without leaving their neighborhood and, in the majority of instances, for a five-cent price.

Approximately $250,000,000 is invested in this amusement enterprise in this country alone. This includes the investment in the manufacture of the machines, the films and in the theatrical companies. Extravagant prices are paid by these companies for special pictures. Recently $100,000 was offered to the Vatican for the privilege of taking a picture of the Pope receiving visitors.

Some of the larger companies spend as high as $25,000 on a single production. One company spent $6,000 on one scene—the blowing up of a ship at sea with giant powder, and it was done with a real ship and with real gunpowder. The war plays cost a small fortune.

The total revenue of the various states from automobile fees, etc., for the past year was $4,769,873.25.

In the year ending October 1, Judge Monroe, Los Angeles, disposed of 1,902 divorce cases.

November 1 St. Louis starts a crusade against rubbish-laden alleys and back yards.

WOULD REPLACE WOODEN CARS

Congress Will Be Asked to Prohibit Their Use

Railroad men are interested in steps taken by the American Railway association to have enacted legislation that will compel every railway corporation operating in the United States to replace wooden passenger coaches with steel coaches.

It has been suggested that all railroad companies be required to replace their wooden coaches between June 1, 1915, and Jan. 1, 1918. This would give them two and one-half years in which to make the change. It is expected that the proposed legislation will be enacted before June 1, 1915, so that in reality the companies would have more than three years time in which to have their steel cars constructed.

The committee reports that replies were received from 225 companies operating 219,859 miles of road in the United States, and having an aggregate of 55,722 passenger cars in use with 1,211 more under construction on January 1 of this year. Of the total number of cars 48,126 are of wooden construction, 3,399 have steel underframes and 5,347 are entirely of steel. Of the cars being built 84 were to be of wood, steel underframes were specified for 196 and 391 to be entirely of steel. Cars ordered and delivered in 1911 were 759 of wood, 762 with steel underframes and 2,211 all steel.

An estimate of the cost of replacement puts the number of cars which would have to be built at 48,126, the total cost of which would be $632,746,460, with an annual interest charge of $21,627,396. The charge to operating expenses under the classification of accounts of the interstate commission assuming a value of $4,000 on each car replaced, is fixed at $19,504,000.

Every car building concern in the country is working night and day in the effort to fill the orders that have been piled upon them at almost the last minute by many lines. The demand for new cars exceeds the capacity of these car works to turn out equipment in anything like the time needed to save the country in 1913 from a repetition of the shortage assured for this year. It is this lack of facilities which may lead a number of the more important roads to combine for the purpose of establishing their own car building plants where cars can be designated and built without serious delay.

Shirtwaist Cabinets.
Shirtwaist boxes, which were primarily invented to help the woman of little space in keeping her room in order, have reached quite a definite place in home furnishing. Originally they were but boxes, cretonne covered, but now, though made in the same manner, they have small stands, of white wood, some finished with a top glass over cretonne matching the box coverings; the boxes have also little glass knobs so that they may be pulled in and out of the stands in the same manner as bureau drawers. Some of the cases are made in the replica of a dressing case and have a small swinging mirror; their cost is about the same as a little white painted bureau would be.

Peach Leather.
This is a famous southern dainty and much used for school children's lunch basket. Take a peck of ripe freestone peaches, peel and pit them, mash and press the pulp through a coarse sieve. To four quarts of the pulp allow one pint of sugar, brown if you can get it. Mix well, cook about two minutes, stirring all the time, then spread on plates and in the sun. If the weather is hot, three days will be enough. When the paste on the edges looks like leather and cleaves from the plate readily if a knife is passed around the edge, it is done. Dust with white sugar, then roll up. If stored in a dry place it will keep for several months.

Rochester Jelly Cake.
One and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup butter creamed together, three-quarters cup milk, half teaspoon soda dissolved in it, two heaping cups flour with one teaspoon cream tartar, salt and flavor. Put half this mixture in shallow pan to bake and to remainder add one tablespoon molasses, one-half cup raisins or currants, and a little cinnamon, clove and allspice and a generous tablespoon of flour. Bake in pan same size as used for the light part. Spread jelly between the layers of cake while hot.

Roman Cream.
Did you ever make this cream? Take 1-1/2 pints of milk, one-eighth of a box of gelatin, yolks of three eggs, four tablespoons of sugar, vanilla flavoring. Dissolve the gelatin in the milk, then set in hot water. Beat the eggs and sugar together, add to the other mixture and cook until it thickens, being careful not to boil it too long. When taken from the stove stir in the beaten whites of the eggs. Serve with cream.

Making Bread Crumbs.
A quick way of making bread crumbs is to put the crumbs from a stale loaf into a muslin bag, tie it at the top, then rub gently between the hands for a few minutes. The crumbs will be fine enough for any purpose.

Fish in Cornmeal.
Take any fish that you wish to fry and roll it in yellow cornmeal. Fry in the usual way. In frying this way egg is not necessary. Be sure and have your fish dry before rolling in the cornmeal.

ROWING WITH THEIR LEGS

This photograph represents men of the Jule lake in the southern Shan states, which form a part of Burma. These men, who live in dwellings built over the lake, row their long, narrow boats with their legs, keeping up a good speed for a long time.

SLEEVES IN MANY SHAPES

No One Idea May Be Set Down as the Fashion Decree of the Season.

Sleeves are increasingly broader, but are in many cases put in full but flat into a small armhole and then are allowed to widen toward the bottom, ending in a wide cuff and fall of lace or net at the elbow. Or they are put into the armhole full, are adjusted to the inner arm by little tucks and are allowed to droop on the outer arm over a close-fitting lower section reaching to the hand.

The little oversleeves of coats or tunics are often cut in one with the shoulder, but the kimono sleeve really has lost prestige at last and is seen less than it was at the beginning of the season. When it is used the under-arm seam is so fitted up to the armpit that bagginess is eliminated and the kimono idea remains only in the absence of an armhole seam across the shoulder.

TINY BUSINESS BUILDING

What is believed to be the smallest business "building" in the world is located at 2 Light street, Baltimore, Md. This building, for it is a building inasmuch as a building permit was required from the city authorities before it could be erected, stands on a triangular shaped lot, has a frontage of 2 feet 7 inches, a depth of 1 foot 6 inches, and is 6 feet tall. The ground upon which it stands is a remnant left when Light street was widened following the great fire of 1904. At that time the city bought all of the lots fronting on this street, as it was then, took what land was necessary for the reconstructed street, and sold the remnants at public auction. The remnant upon which the smallest "building" stands was sold to Joseph P. Jarboe, who, in common with adjacent owners, enjoys the privilege of using a portion of the area way in the rear. Otherwise his "property" would be of little use to him.

POPULATION OF THE OCEAN

A striking proof of the vastness and variety of the population of the sea is furnished by the results of explorations made by a committee of the zoological department of the British association in that part of the Irish sea surrounding the Isle of Man. Out of 1,000 species of marine animals collected, 224 never before had been found in that region, 38 were previously unknown as inhabitants of British water, and 17 were entirely new to science; indeed, they were animals whose existence had never been suspected.

Davenport, Ill., will equip its fire department with auto apparatus.

THE NEW ELECTRIC POSTAL STUDIO.

The old and original management of the Quick Finish Postal Studio in the Central Hotel Block has returned after an absence of a year and a half in Canada and Montana.

They have reopened this old stand, and it looks like old times back again to see the eager crowds enjoying the fun of having a picture taken and finished in a few minutes at three for a quarter.

They have always been noted for the variety and novelty of their styles; the new stunts are brighter and funnier than ever. The Observation Car is a great favorite; the Moon, a great place for sipping; the Comic Ball scene is rich.

The wild and woolly Western scene with real hairy cowboy "Chaps" and artillery has the real flavor—One big "Sixgun" is like a cannon and has quite a history having been picked up in the battlefield after the Custer-Massacre. (Advertisement) -25

SCORES WILD CAT COMPANY

Insurance Commissioner Warns Against the London Lloyds

The state insurance commissioner, C. A. Palmer, has given out a warning to the people who are interested in insurance. Commissioner Palmer calls attention to the methods of one company operating in Michigan and goes after the so-called "wild cat" insurance companies. Under his signature, the commissioner says:

"We desire again to warn the people of Michigan of the great danger to them, of carrying any class of insurance in companies not authorized to do business in this state, and we particularly wish to warn them against carrying their risks in the London Lloyds of London, England.

"This institution is a 'wild cat' insurance scheme, which will give an insurance policy upon any proposition submitted to it, even to the extent of gambling with death. It seems almost incredible that business men will directly violate a law of the state for the sake of saving a few dollars in premiums, but it seems to be the practice, nevertheless, for prominent business concerns, in Detroit particularly, and in other places throughout the state, to accept this concern's policies of insurance in preference to a regularly organized and legally authorized company.

"While it is not the intention of this department to assume a guardianship over the business methods of the people, nevertheless, we do wish to again sound this warning, and to impress upon our people the undesirability of contracting insurance with any unauthorized insurance concern, fire, life, casualty, but particularly against the London Lloyds, which is the most consistent law violator. Take warning now, rather than wait until you have suffered a great loss, and then wonder how it is possible that such things can occur in a law-abiding state like the state of Michigan."

Chinese Logic.
Bishop M. St. Lewis of Foo Chow, urging recognition of the Chinese republic, told a little story illustrative of Chinese unworldliness.
"A gentleman," he said "entered a Chinese shop to purchase tea. He found, to his amazement, that five pounds of a certain tea cost $2.50, while ten pounds of the same brand cost $7.50.
"The gentleman ridiculed these illogical prices, but the shopkeeper, on the contrary, insisted that he was acting in a perfectly logical way. As he put it:
"More buy, more rich—more rich, more can pay."

QUIT CALOMEL!

THOUSANDS ARE TURNING FROM THIS DANGEROUS DRUG.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His abstract of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets. They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They act on the bowels, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities. 10c and 25c per box.
